

Delaware Homebuyer Fair Set for April 13

WILMINGTON, DE – Families and individuals who want to learn more about buying a home can get a wealth of information at the free Delaware Homebuyer Fair scheduled for Saturday, April 13 at the Chase Center on the Riverfront in Wilmington. Running from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., the fair offers educational seminars on every aspect of buying a home in Delaware, as well as the chance to connect with service providers in the real estate, financing and home buying fields.

Celebrating its ninth year, the annual event typically draws between 350 and 400 people. Registration details and a complete agenda are available on DSHA's website.

"The Homebuyer Fair offers a great opportunity for people at all stages of the homebuying process to get all the information they need," said Delaware State Housing Authority Director Anas Ben Addi. "We make it as easy as possible for potential buyers to become better prepared and feel comfortable with buying a home."

Seminars will cover topics such as finding properties, obtaining low-cost financing, down payment assistance, home inspections and maintenance and budgeting.

"As a mortgage lender, I'm a proud supporter of the Delaware Homebuyer Fair," said Kevin Jornlin, past president of the Delaware Mortgage Bankers Association. "The fair provides valuable information for potential homebuyers and connects them to countless resources throughout the state.”
